

Full Re-Audit Report: robertmccoyprojects.com

Date: February 24, 2026

Auditor: Manus AI

1. Executive Summary

The site restructuring was successful. The Replit AI has correctly executed the instructions. The root domain `robertmccoyprojects.com` now serves as a placeholder for the future consulting business, and all existing research content, including the fully functional CMGF demo, has been moved to a dedicated `/research` section. The site's information architecture is now clean, strategically aligned, and ready for the next phase of development.

2. Before vs. After: A Successful Transformation

The core strategic goal of separating the research portfolio from the consulting business has been achieved.

Element	Before (Previous Audit)	After (Current Audit)
Homepage (/)	A mix of CMGF research and OKS case studies.	A clean placeholder for "Governed Systems Architecture Consulting Services."
Navigation	A single, long list of links to all projects.	Two clear top-level links: Consulting and Research .
CMGF URLs	<code>/cmgf</code> , <code>/demo</code> , <code>/sm-hub</code> , etc.	<code>/research/cmgf</code> , <code>/research/demo</code> , <code>/research/sm-hub</code> , etc.
Site Structure	A flat portfolio of disconnected projects.	A clear, two-part structure separating the two main pillars of your work.

3. Audit Findings by Section

- Root Domain (/) : PASS. The new consulting homepage loads correctly. The navigation is clean and functional.
- Research Section (/research) : PASS. This page serves as the new, unified entry point for all your research work. It correctly links to the CMGF framework and the Organizational Knowledge Systems case studies.

- CMGF Demo Workflow (/research/*): PASS. The end-to-end demo workflow is fully functional under the new URL structure. I have verified the following path:
 1. /research/sm-hub : Case submission works.
 2. /research/isr : Case appears in the queue, and advisor actions work.
 3. /research/audit : The audit trail correctly logs all actions.
- Legacy Subdomains (cmgfdemo , etc.): UNCHANGED. These subdomains are still live. The cmgfdemo subdomain is now officially obsolete and should be decommissioned to avoid confusion.

4. Final Recommendations

The site is now in a strong, stable state. The foundation is set for you to build out the consulting section.

1. Decommission the cmgfdemo subdomain. This is the only remaining piece of cleanup from the old structure. Redirect it to robertmccoyprojects.com/research/demo .
2. Begin building the "Consulting" section. Now that the placeholder is up, you can start creating the pages for your service offerings, the detailed case studies (migrated from the subdomains), and your pricing tiers.
3. No further changes are needed for the CMGF demo before your conference. It is stable, functional, and correctly located.

This audit confirms the successful implementation of the new site architecture. You are well-positioned to move forward with both your academic presentation and your business development goals.
