What source(s) will military students use to purchase books and/or resource materials for their course(s)?

Students can select to participate with IWU's partnering book distributor for an automatic delivery program whereby books are shipped automatically to students based on their course schedule. IWU does not bill military students for books when they choose to receive electronic materials through the automatic delivery program. Student may select an option to purchase their books outside of this program, sourcing on their own from a variety of sources. Students in traditional programs can use the same textbook delivery program or purchase their own textbooks, but will be responsible for the cost of their textbooks with either option.

Note: Tuition and fees as reported by the Educational Institution via the Department of Defense Voluntary Education Partnership Memorandum of Understanding
